LETTER FROM HEAD OF SCHOOL

Dear Lick-Wilmerding Community:

In your hands is a historical document, treat it with kindness. In its most literal form the yearbook is a physical manifestation of the past year's experiences expressed in words and pictures. But as with all historical documents, this yearbook will change in meaning as you grow older. You will revisit the photographs and chuckle at a hairstyle, or be reminded of a close friendship, or be jarred into reminiscing about a class or teacher. A yearbook is a type of time capsule; it is a collection of moments as they are today ready to be interpreted over and over again in the many tomorrows to come.

My hope is that when you look back at this book in one, five, ten, twenty and more years, you are reminded of the joy of learning, of the many friendships that permeate your experience at LWHS, of the teachers and staff who care deeply about you and your learning, and that you know that Lick-Wilmerding helped you to realize your potential and be a force for good in the world.

I thank Mr. King and the entire yearbook staff for all of their hard work producing this wonderful edition of The Tiger. Through their efforts, your memories will live on and your connection with this year of schooling will be more easily accessed. I wish you each a peaceful and restful summer as you add to the collection of experiences that culminate in a life well lived.

With best wishes,

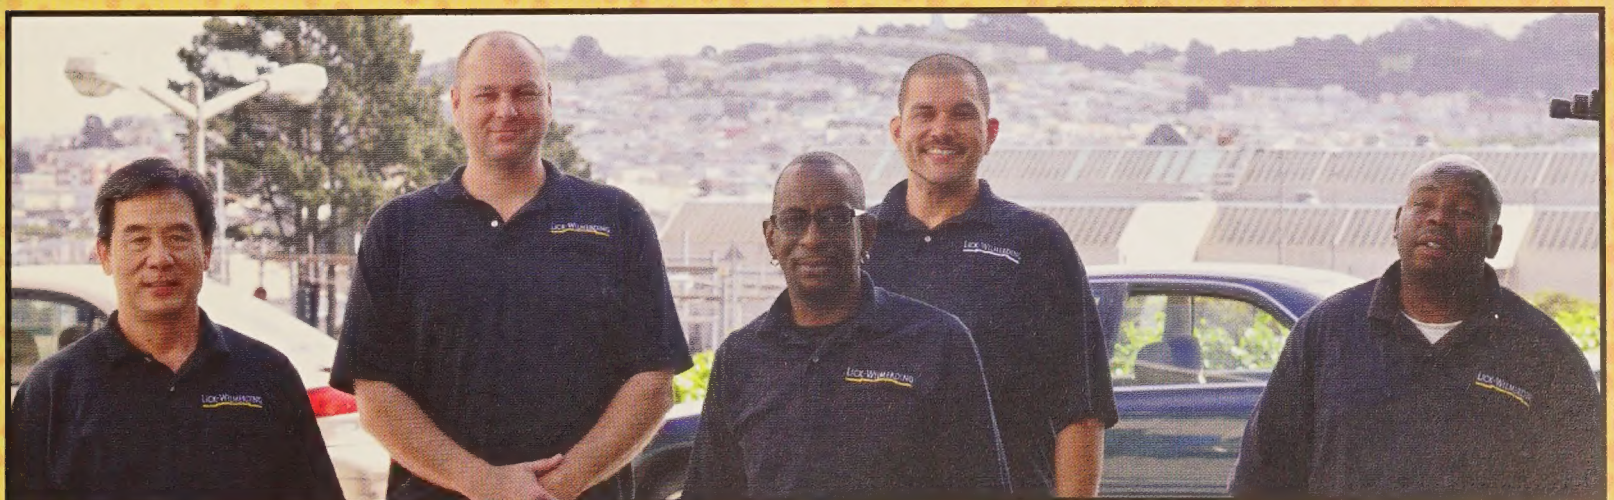

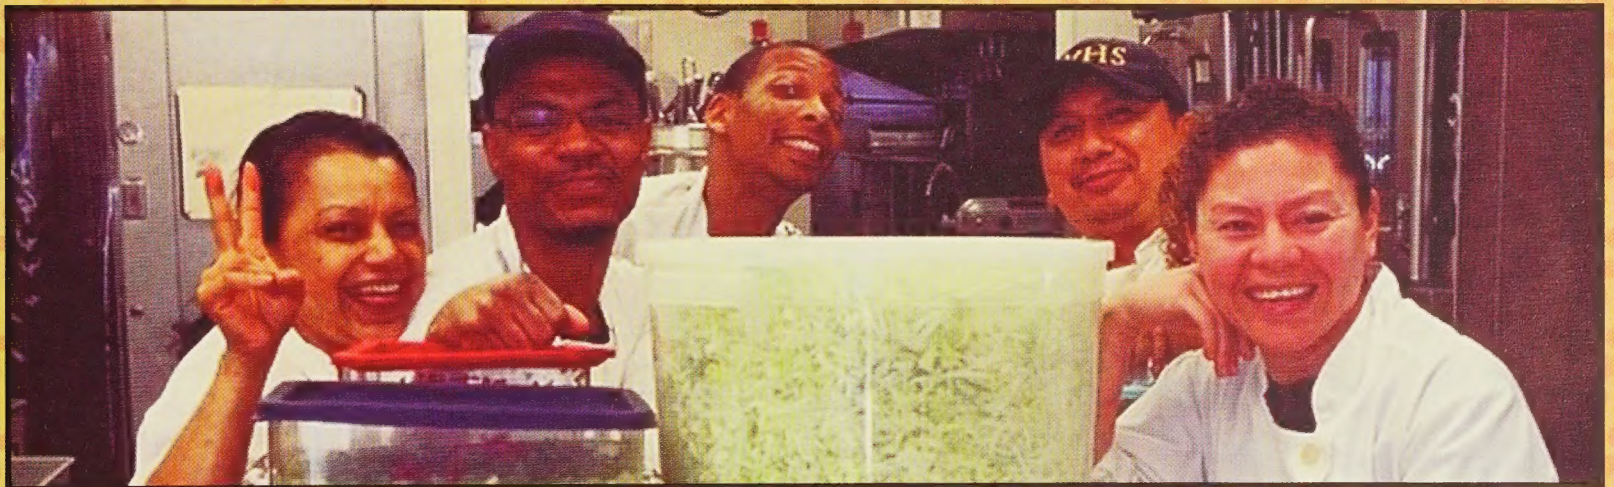

Mr. Temple
Head of School

DEDICATION

Things always run seamlessly at Lick-Wilmerding. Everyday we walk through a beautiful campus. There is always something tasty in the cafeteria. Every effort is made to ensure its local and sustainable. Classrooms are tidy and have everything you need. By filling out a simple form the gym can suddenly have tables and chairs ready for hundreds of people. But have you ever wondered how the campus is always in this blissful state? We all have seen the many of the faces that work behind the scenes to keep our campus functional. These members of the school community often don't get the acknowledgment that they deserve. The editors of The Tiger 2014 would like to dedicate this year's book to the Facilities and Cafeteria staff who keep Lick's gear running smoothly. Chandra White and Solana Diaz lead their departments and help us throughout our day in many different ways. Whether it is finding that cookie you are craving at 10 o'clock or helping you cut your way into your locker because you have lost the combination, they are always there to help you with things both big and small. They keep our school together and often don't get the credit they deserve. We dedicate this yearbook to them and for all they do for us. As you see them in hall be sure to say hi and a heartfelt thanks!

CROSS COUNTRY

Led by head coach Jeffrey Gardiner, and assistant coaches Alex Wu, Ashley Relf, Joe Fleming and Bridget Dahlberg the Boys and Girls Cross Country teams had a phenomenal year. The girls team dominated with a repeat victory at the Stanford Invitational, at the State Meet and at NCS with a first place title. The Boys also placed 3rd at NCS and 7th at States, their highest finish ever. The home course record was also broken by four different runners. With the largest team ever, two girls shattering freshman records, and the strongest ever boys' JV team, the future only looks brighter for Lick-Wilmerding Cross Country.

VOLLEYBALL

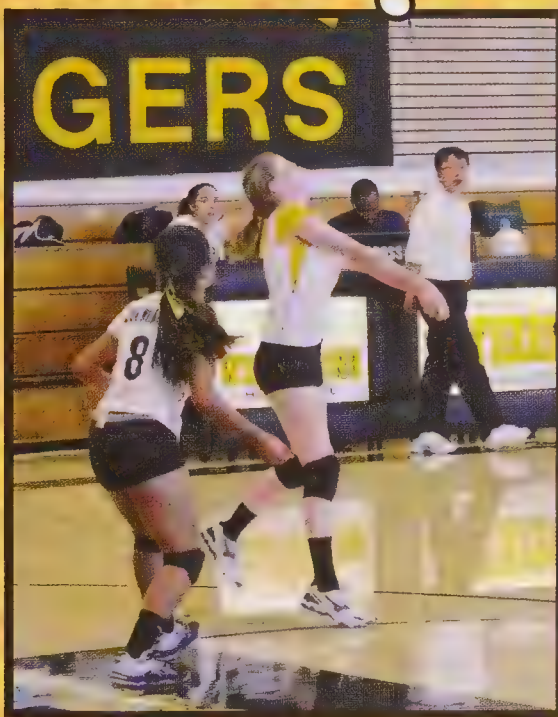

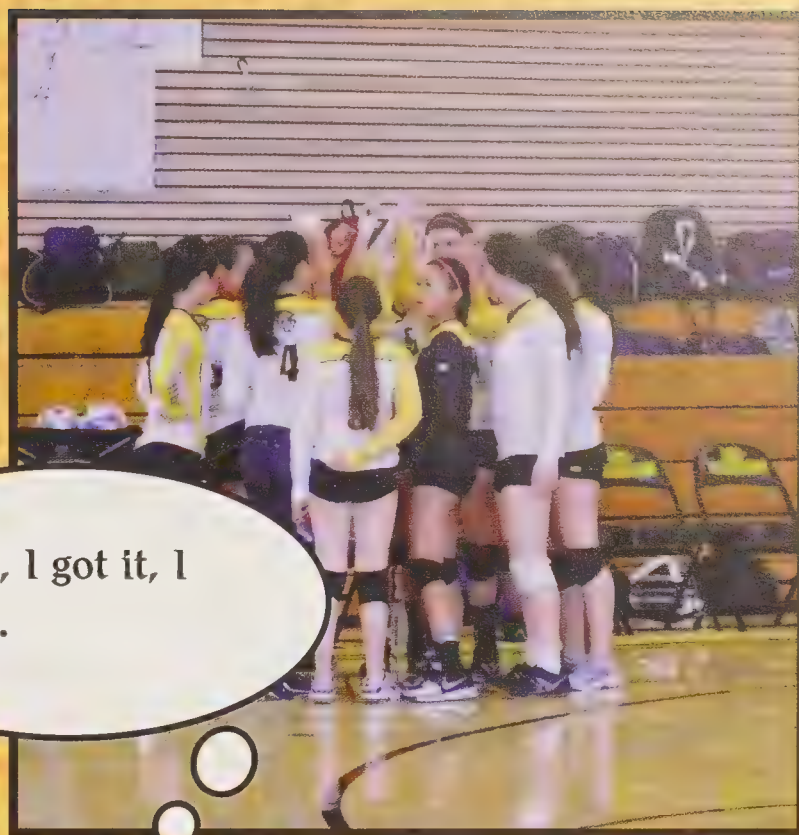

Varsity volleyball grew exponentially as a team from day one. We didn't grow in height (unfortunately), and we didn't grow the number of wins we had by that much. But we grew as players and as a team, as individuals and as friends. We learned to give it our all and take pride in the hard work we put into the game. We "worked through adversity" to "beat inertia," had our "backs to the wall" a lot but remained "tenacious" like "bears, oh I mean tigers!" #HoopDunc

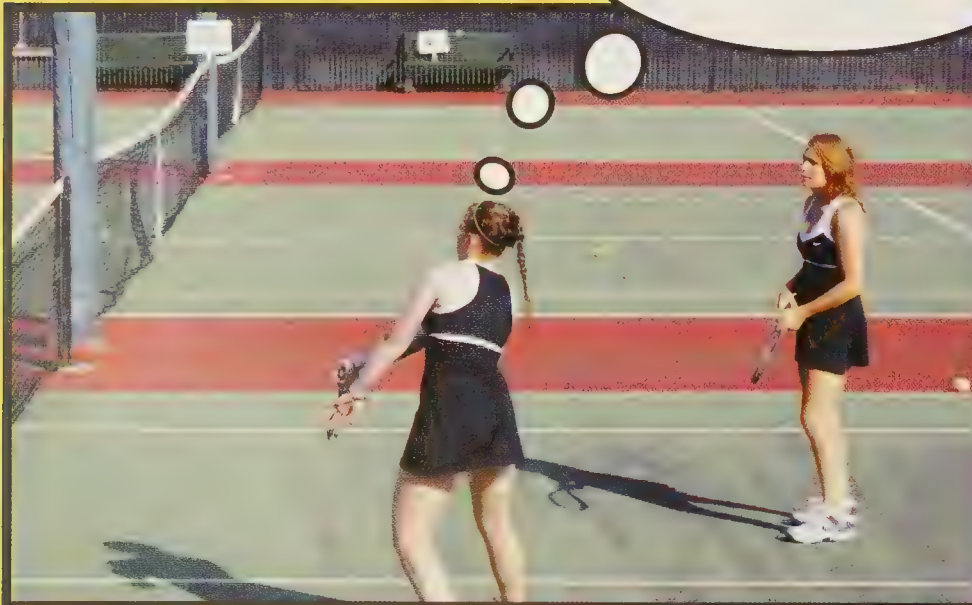

I got it, I got it, I got it...

GIRLS TENNIS

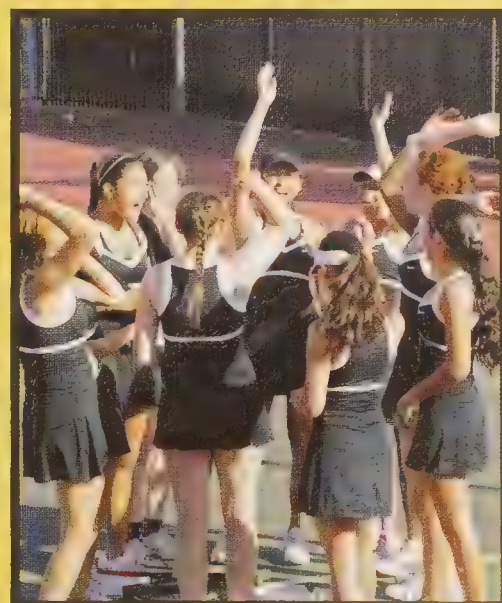

You got this Lupe...

What can I say about the Varsity Girls Tennis team? No, the real question is: what can't I say about the Varsity Girls Tennis team? Not only did we win the entire league, we also crushed University and Marin Academy to win the championship. We put the Lick Tigers in their rightful place—on top. As a team, we were more than just bonded, we were sisters (and we actually did become blood sisters). Our coach guided us to victory, and we grew as people, a team, and champions. We were glorious this year, and may our legend live on forever.

BOYS SOCCER

Oh dang!
This guy is good,
I'll handle him...

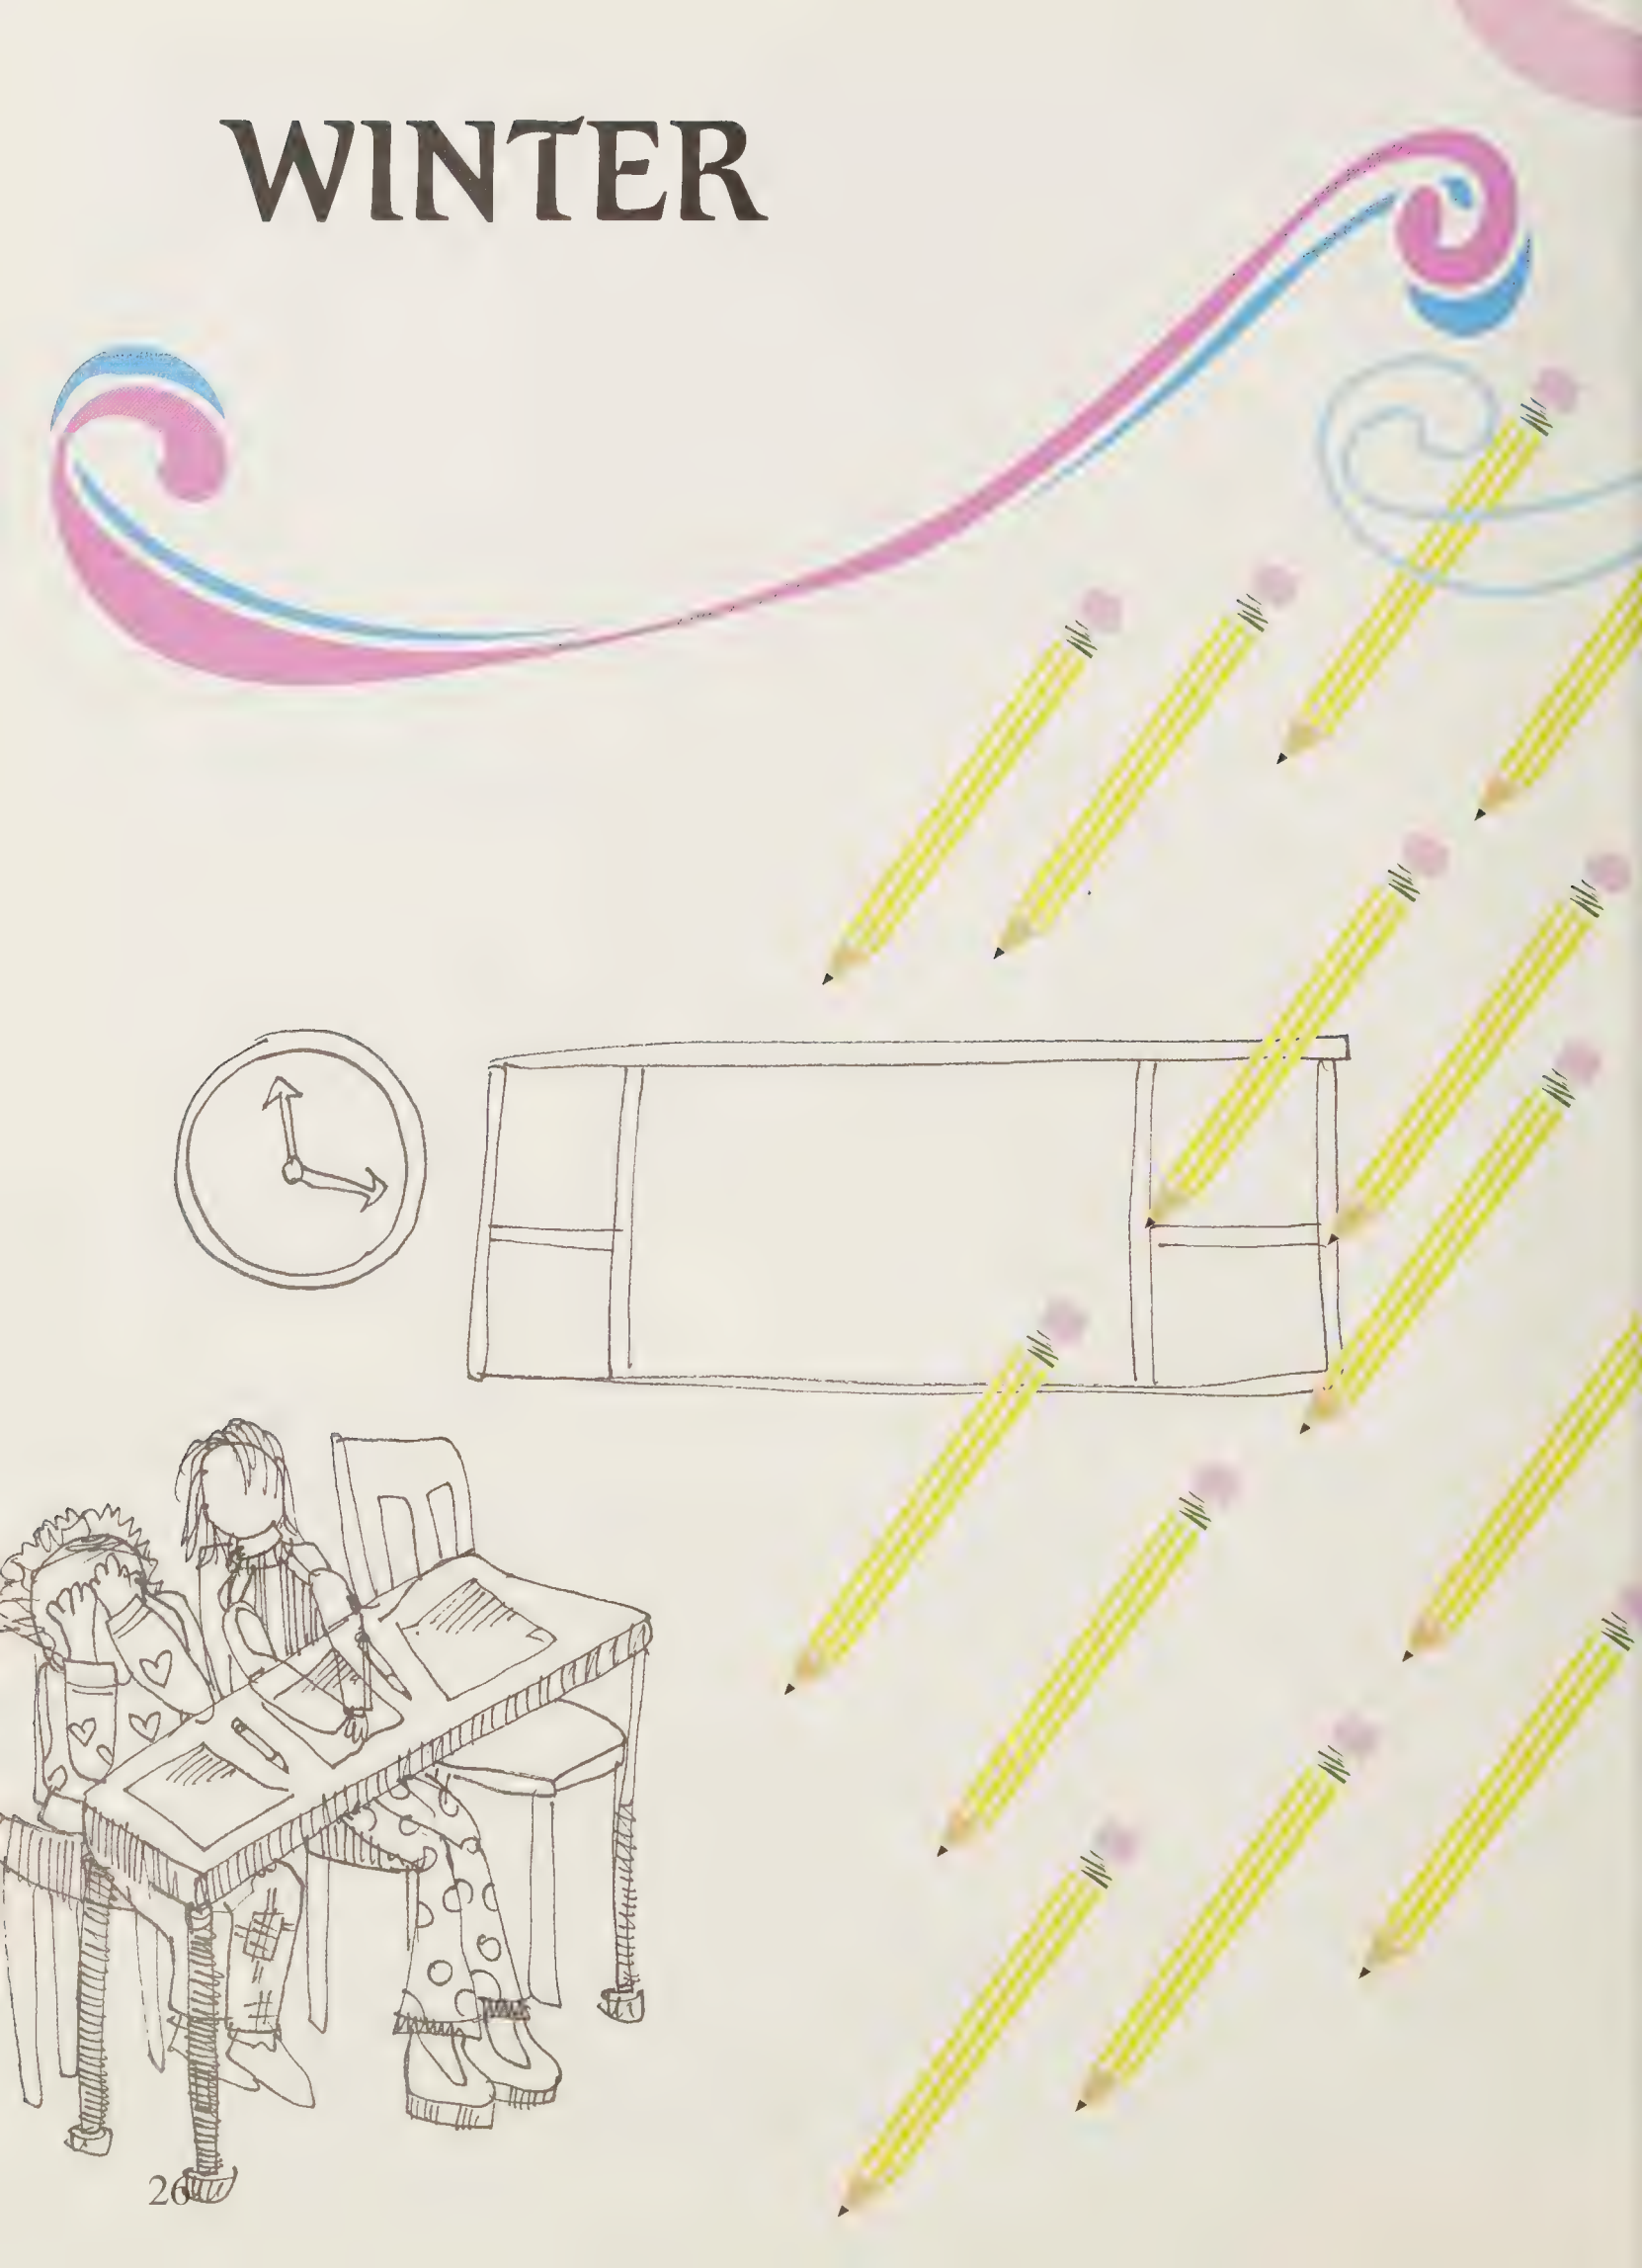

Soccer - a game of thrill. Who doesn't agree with this comment? Soccer, more formally known as football if you don't live in America, has that thrill factor. Boy's soccer did extremely well this year. Although the boys soccer team did lose some of their games, they ended the season strongly. This group of young men will always be viewed as valiant fighters. Go Tigers!

BOYS BASKETBALL

With a record of 13-13, the Varsity team of 12 made NCS one game deep. Injury struck the men hard, as many games were played with fewer than half of the starters. Despite hardships, these champions always found a way to compete!

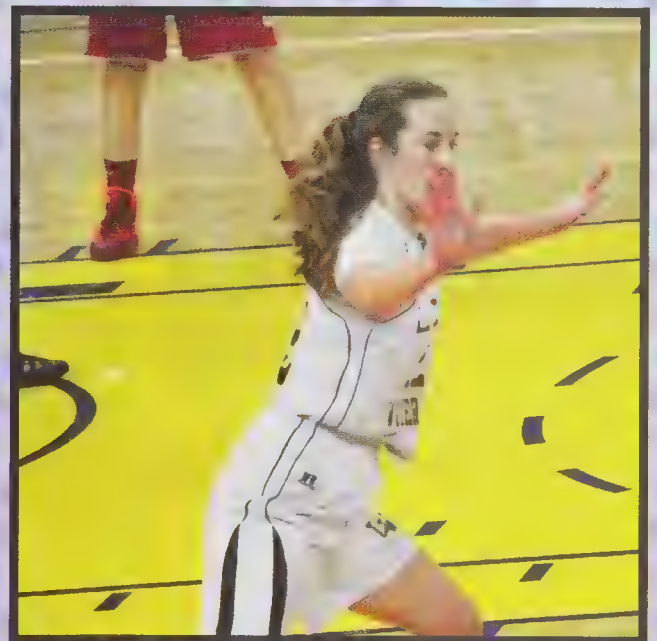

GIRLS BASKETBALL

This year, the Girls Varsity team went deep. With only eight players, the team had an unforgettable season. Under great coaching, the girls won Oracle for the first time, went undefeated in league, and won the BCL West Championship game for the first time in over thirty years. To keep our team going strong, we channeled the energy from Terio's Ohh Kill'em Caked Up Remix and squashed any competition that got in our way. 8 Strong! Love thy team and thy team shall love thee back!

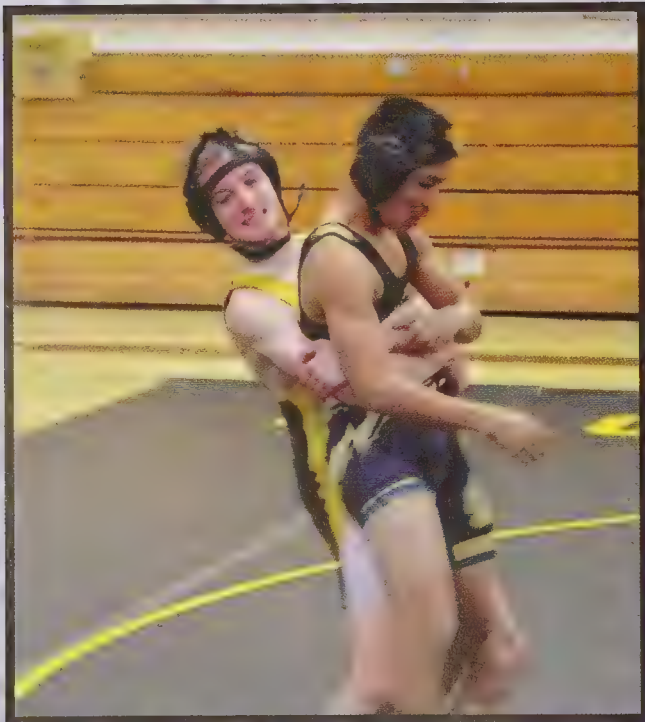

WRESTLING

LWHS Wrestling had its best season yet, finishing off it's fourth season in the BCL. This season saw a number of new wrestlers grow into their own on the mat. In the BCL league tournament we saw Nathan Wertheimer, Oscar Barajas, Alejandro Santana, and Ethan McDonald's progress onto the North Coast Sectionals.

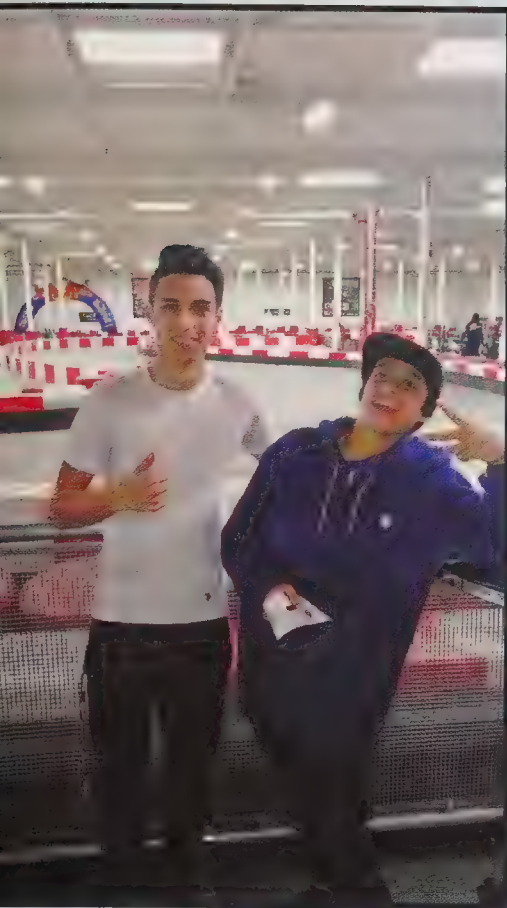

THE PACT

The Pact is a program, which grew out of the Ad Ingenium Faciendum group, consisting of young men of color at LWHS as big brothers/mentors to boys of color at San Francisco Day School. The primary goal is to foster long-lasting friendships between the members of these two communities. The LWHS students are there to support the mentees, that they are matched with, in their academic, extracurricular and social endeavors. Ad Ingenium Faciendum and The Pact provide LWHS students camaraderie and leadership opportunities while San Francisco Day students are given the tools to own their identity, navigate social challenges and build their own character.

Chelo Barton: E/V Nautilus

This summer I participated in the Honors Research Program as part of the Ocean Exploration Trust. The program consisted of six weeks studying Oceanography at the University of Rhode Island and two weeks in October working on a Scientific Research Vessel during an expedition to Puerto Rico.

For the first 6 weeks of the program the twelve HRP students lived independently in the URI graduate dorms. We were given money for groceries and were expected to take turns cooking for every meal. I had three roommates, one from Hawaii, one from Texas and one from Virginia. We were also given bus passes and every morning we would take public transportation to the Oceanography campus where we had many guest speakers and lessons. We covered several topics including navigation, geology, marine biology, physics, and history. We also became licensed in using a underwater mapping software called Fledermaus. My team of four people spent three weeks downloading multibeam sonar data from the waters surrounding Puerto Rico onto Fledermaus and mapping the ocean floor.

The Head Scientist from our expedition used our maps to decide which exact locations were geologically interesting and where we wanted to send down our ROV. During my time on the ship I worked as a data logger from the 12-4 shift (AM and PM). I also collected air quality data for NASA everyday. Aside from my main tasks I had the opportunity to talk with all the scientists and engineers about their jobs and how they got there. I helped out in the wet lab, examining coral samples from the ocean floor and I helped prepare the chords and ropes for the deployment of the ROV's. My favorite part was experiencing life at sea and being able to look out into the ocean in every direction and not see any land. This program was incredibly fun, and a good experience to help prepare me for college.

Charles Ryan: NASA in the NOVAS

Hello, my name is Charles Ryan and I am a proud member of the graduating class of 2014! Over the past couple years I have had the amazing opportunity to delve deeper into the wondrous world of astronomy and astrophysics. Growing up as an urban youth, neither my friends nor I had never really noticed the stars, nor did we take the time to stop and wonder about what mysteries the sky holds. Outer space and the stars were practically invisible to me, and now they are all I think about. I am currently an intern with NASA in the NOVAS (NASA Opportunities in Visualizations, Art, and Science) program. It is a year-round job comprised of a combination between research, exploration, and outreach. (Modeling and Visualizing data from different NASA telescopes and satellites). I work with a team of six teens from all over the Bay Area (Oakland, Berkeley, Richmond, and SF), and we get mentored by a group of heliophysicists, glaciologists, astronomers, and artists. It took me awhile to understand that the most profound lesson from my time with NOVAS is being able to see the profound codependence between art and science. With the art produced by science we are able to expose and interest people in a field that most artificially deem as "boring". With the advances in science and technology we continue to inspire musicians and artists

BOYS LACROSSE

Lacrosse has its origins in a tribal game played by eastern Woodlands Native Americans and by some Plains Indians tribes. The ancient tradition has since swept the entire nation of the United States and even into the quaint high-school known as Lick-Wilmerding. Lacrosse is not just a game - it's a lifestyle.

However, modern times have put their own flare as well. Nowadays, LAX-Bros are known to sport heavy lettuce and tickle the twine after putting some mustard on it. Rusty gate check to some alligator arms lead to some insane expelliarmus. Over the years we've learned some lessons about the spoon as well, but above all else - "Blame the wizard, not the wand."

Shoutout to Kerns® Nectar for the cool cool refreshments.

GIRLS LACROSSE

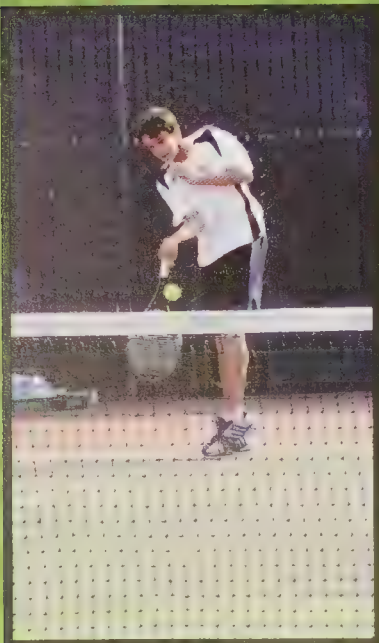

The majority of the girls in the lacrosse program start the sport their freshman year. This creates a surprisingly awesome dynamic where the older girls help the younger girls out because we remember what it was like to start from nothing. The younger girls keep the older girls working hard as they quickly pick up the basic skills. On and off the field we push ourselves as individuals and as a team, and create incredible bonds with each other through our successes and failures alike.

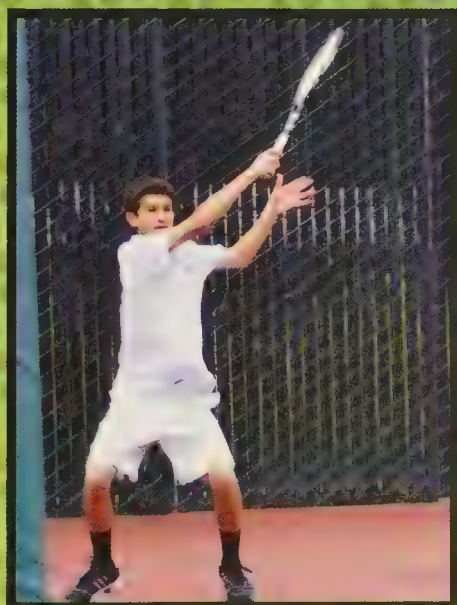

BOYS TENNIS

Led by the 4 year no. 1 singles player and BCL individual champion Bryson Lee and supported by the scrappy singles player Charles Ryan and sophomore superstar Jacob Shaw, the team has reached previously unimaginable heights. Being so close in the past, Lick tennis has never won a championship in 118 years; however, the time has come. Through talent, hard work, and determination, Lick has fought its way to the top. This year is the year.

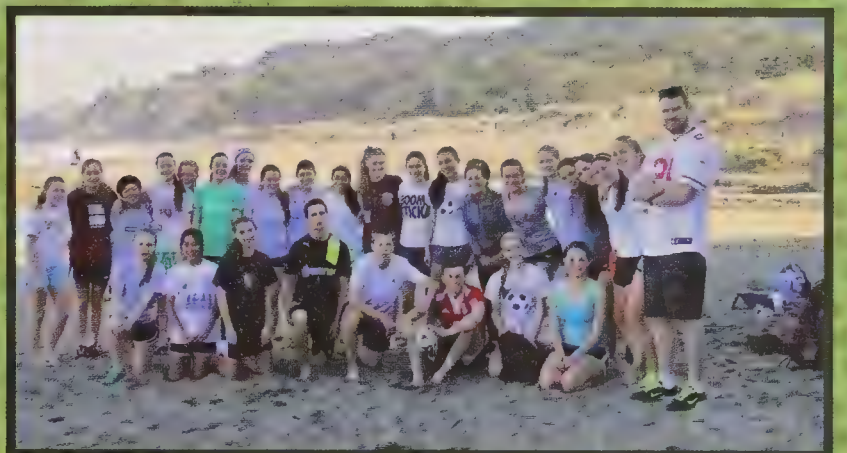

GIRLS SOCCER

This year's girls varsity team won the most games at a start of a season in lick history, had the best themes in lick history (frightening the opponents with black lipsticks and eyeliner on Goth day), had many freshman, had a wonderful theme squad / dream team, had the will to win, the heart to fight, the love for one another, sleepovers full of waffles and milkshakes, two amazing coaches, one amazing team, coordination, spirit, excitement, joy, and a lot of balls. Except we lost a few of them over the fences and had to pay Gavin back to buy new ones.

COED BADMINTON

It's a bird, it's a plane, oh wait it's a birdie...

For people who think badminton isn't a sport, think again. This year's 2014 team has a range of qualities which encompass all aspects of our very own Lick motto. From the freshman boys to our senior girls, we use our "heads" to outsmart opponents from each school on the court. Some of the complex commands which run through every badminton player's mind goes something like this: Clear far, smash hard, drop soft, now backdrop left hand side! So much for being called an "easy" sport huh? Coming to the "heart" part of it, even though the Lick Wilmerding badminton team has a quite low commitment requirement in comparison to other spring sports, most members show their dedication and 100% effort towards becoming more experienced players in games, practice, and tournaments. Finally, the "hands" is what makes badminton such an unique sport compared to the others. Technically speaking, instead using some type of heavy ball which just bounces or rolls, we use rackets to hit light birdies which soar through the air from side to side. With our Lick motto in mind, the 2014 Lick badminton team, from our singles to doubles players, strives for excellence in skill, talent, and sportsmanship

COED SWIMMING

What's more fun than indefinite air deprivation? Indefinite air deprivation with friends cheering from the deck. Whether cross-training in the weight room, pushing through distance sets, or crushing formidable opponents on race day, the 2014 Lick-Wilmerding Swim season was full of camaraderie, laughter, intense muscle pain, and, of course, epic wins.

TRACK AND FIELD

Set by determination, dedication, and most importantly perseverance, Track and Field is a sport that pushes the body past new bounds. Athletes run against one another to set new standards of excellence. Led by Head Coach Jeffrey Gardiner and a large contingent of assistant coaches, returning BCL Champions, Lick-Wilmerding Track and Field would face their greatest challenge yet. In a pre-season meeting, both the men and women's teams were notified that their championship titles were in jeopardy to league rivals Convent and Stuart Hall. However, with encouragement, camaraderie, and undying determination the LW Tigers forged ahead with early PRs, new talent, and the audacity necessary to take BCL by storm.

COMMUNITY ACTION CLUB: NATIVE PLANT GARDEN PROJECT

This year, Community Action Club worked to replant and redesign the garden below the Development Office. With the help of Brad Goya and his company San Francisco Green Spaces, the club was able to create a new layout for the garden and plant new native Californian plants. After seeing the new redwood tree that was planted in the center of the garden, Community Action Club wanted to create a garden that showcased some more of California's beautiful native plants. The club created a path that begins with the tiles from a past Jellis Block project and weaves through the garden. They hope to add more furniture and create a welcoming place for students to enjoy.

CENTER INTERNS

Being a Center intern this year was fun, as well as a valuable experience. I had an awesome time while building organizational skills, creating valuable connections within and beyond the Lick community, and helping with awesome new projects to offer to the community, like the workshops and service projects. Every meeting we had, and task I helped with helped me grow as a person, and truly brightened my day. I couldn't have asked for a better group of people to work with.

-Rebecca Green

I think the biggest highlight for me as a Center Intern was when attending our PB&J service project. Like many other service projects, we interns had worked to promote and get the project moving. Being there, and seeing Lick come together as a community to make a difference made me proud of our school. After we had made all the sandwiches together we separated to give them to those living on the streets. Despite rain, my group was able to give all our lunches away. Though giving a lunch is only a short interaction, it is an exchange, a moment to talk with a stranger, and gain new perspectives. Moments like these make this internship so fulfilling. The opportunity to be have individual relationships and connections, while being part of a greater collective with a common goal.

-Maya Pollack

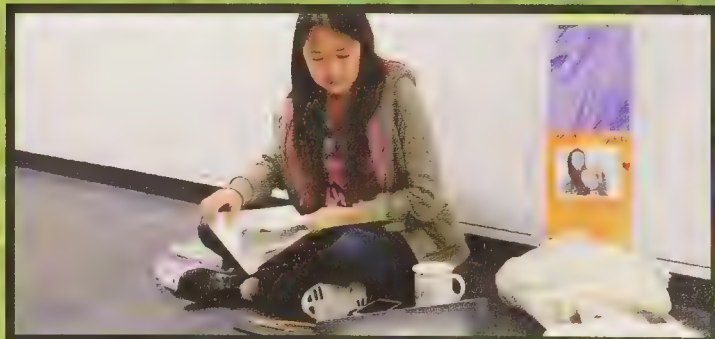

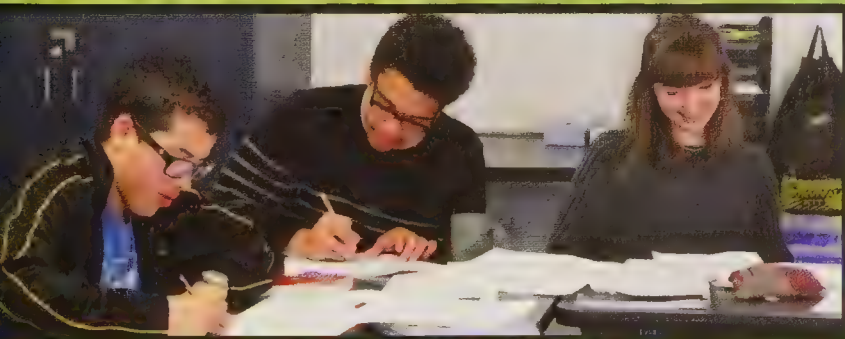

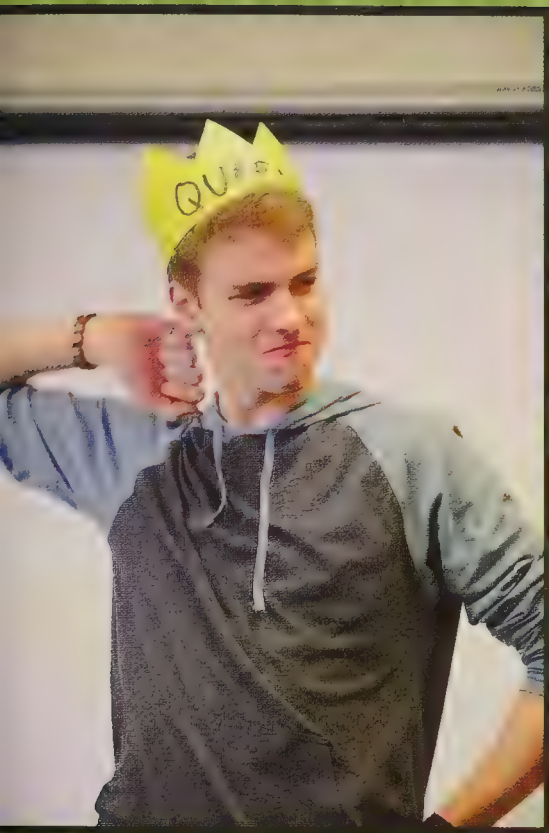

Being one of three first ever Center interns has definitely been one of the biggest highlights of my Junior year. I knew I really wanted to uphold this position after my house fire at the end of my Sophomore year. The support and love of all my friends at Lick made me understand the true importance of community. Having the opportunity to work with Maya and Rebecca has been nothing but a blast, and through our hard work and enthusiasm in planning workshops and community service events, I feel that I'm able to give back to the my community little by little. Not to mention the fact that Christy and Alan are absolutely wonderful people to work with. I honestly just love bringing people together and building community.

MRS. OSIPOVA

As a part of this years yearbook, we would like to pay tribute to the 40 years Mrs. Osipova has spent teaching at Lick Wilmerding High School. We have collected a series of reflections from the community highlighting some of the experiences student have had with Mrs. Osipova. Mrs. Osipova, the Lick Wilmerding community thanks you for 40 years of enthusiastic teaching and the impact you have had on many students' lives.

acumen. A purveyor of words that marvel and delight the senses, a spirited explorer of learning, and a consummate grammarian, this teacher fuels students' fluency and equips them for a lifetime of appreciation for the access that language provides to literature, ideas, and culture. In my particular case, this teacher provided me, with the tools to express myself confidently in far away lands and to make enduring connections with people from España to Perú and México. My journey from high school to college, to living abroad and even my daily conversations with my husband have been continually enriched by everything I have learned from this teacher. Every word that has ever inspired a native Spanish speaker to commend my vocabulary has been a word I learned in her class. Alboroto, carencia, indagar, ¡y mucho más! I still have my pages and pages of worksheets on the subjunctive in case I ever need to refer back to them. I find myself searching my visual memory for them whenever I get stuck on a particular phrase and whether or not to use subjunctive."

- Laralyn Bergstedt ('92)

"Whether it was her emailing me at 2:21 AM on a Saturday morning to tell me about my progress in Spanish 3H, staying up all night to have our oral Skype conversations graded by 8 AM, or her accessibility outside of class, I'm not sure I've ever had a teacher as dedicated, passionate, and energetic about teaching students as Mrs. Osipova. Thank you, Profe, for two wonderful years of Spanish class; both the memories and class content will stay with me far beyond my years at Lick."

- Nicholas Persky ('14)

"Such inspiration and literary challenge reminds me of a colleague here at Lick. This colleague continually encourages students to stretch themselves beyond what they think they are capable of to propel them toward ever deepening mastery of language, vocabulary and analytical

"She really cares about the progress of her students, and won't settle for anything less than what she knows they are capable of. She pushes her students to do their best. She's a passionate person and deeply interested in Spanish culture. It's really remarkable how she is still so engaged in her students, even after 40 years of teaching"

- Molly Dicke ('14)

"You may know her as the teacher who makes 200 word quizlets or the teacher who makes her own yellow workbooks. However to me I know her as the teacher who has made me into a confident Spanish speaker and writer. She is also the only teacher who could ever teach me to fully understand and properly use the infamous subjunctive. After having Profe for two consecutive years, I have learned to appreciate the Spanish language and culture. Her dedication to her work and her passion for teaching are evident through her contagious smile and attention to detail. Thank you so much Profe for two great years! I will remember everything you've taught me from using the personal a to the fun laughs I've had in your class."

- Julia Pollak ('15)

"We learned about 1,000 words we thought we would never have to know, but even our Spanish home stay families were impressed when we spouted highly sophisticated vocab words and spanish sayings. Profe, thank you so much for your dedication to our success in Spanish: we know that if we are up at 2 a.m doing homework, you'll be up at least two more hours grading papers. We'll never forget churros con chocolate and matching Spain jerseys with you. Even though we are moving on, you will remain in our thoughts, and Profe's Libro will remain in our backpacks. You'll forever be the one and only Profe at Lick. !Muchas, muchas gracias, Profe!" -Selina Wabl ('14) and Emma Wexler ('14)

"Ms. Osipova (who is known to most of her students as Profe) is a warm and welcoming teacher and person who is extremely dedicated to her work. Before I was in her class I new close to no spanish despite having taken spanish classes for 4 years. However, after 2 years in her classroom, I have learned how to speak in spanish, write in spanish and analyze famous spanish stories and poems. Profe has always motivated me to work harder and understand spanish more deeply. I am extremely grateful to have had her as a teacher."

FAREWELL

Dear Lick-Wilmerding Community,

This years book represents our exciting and action-packed life at Lick. Starting from the cover and moving through the different seasons then finally to the portraits and sports photos, each page is filled with vibrant, colorful and exciting photos of what you all have done this year. This book is meant to celebrate the student body, so take some time to think about all you have done this year and be proud. Whether you are a freshman, sophomore, junior or senior, all of you have made great achievements this year and will continue to do so next year.

This book would not have been possible without the help of our lovely yearbook staff and amazing graphic designers. Special thanks to Allison Lee (14') and Cristina Medrano (14') for creating the cover, special thanks to Eleanor Sananman for providing beautiful photographs and special thanks Sarah Chess (15') and Sophie Schneider (15') for creating the illustrations within the book.

Finally we would like to thank our yearbook advisor for guiding us through this process and helping us catch up on the many missed deadlines.
